

*Product Profile: XANGO® Juice

It has been nearly nine years since the founders of XANGO, LLC formed the first company to market a premium, functional mangosteen beverage worldwide that captures the refreshing, sweet, tangy flavor and the natural color of the whole mangosteen fruit.

XANGO ensures exceptional product quality standards from the mangosteen tree to the bottle. The company starts by selecting the best mangosteens from the top farms in Southeast Asia and can trace fruit back to the tree.

XANGO Juice's proprietary puree formula uses the whole mangosteen fruit, from its dark, reddish purple nutrient-dense rind to the white, fleshy pulp – through which all of the mangosteen's health benefits are delivered as nature intended. The rind of the mangosteen contains nature's most concentrated source of xanthenes and a large concentration of flavonoids, powerful phytonutrients.

Research shows xanthenes possess potent antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties.

Science is continuing to explore the relationship between inflammation and unhealthy conditions within the body. A recent, randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled human clinical study demonstrated XANGO® Juice's ability to reduce C-Reactive Protein—a key marker for inflammation—in an overweight population.

Each three-ounce serving of XANGO Juice has only 30 calories and contains nine grams of total carbohydrates as well as six grams of sugars.
